

RFX FORCES

"FIGHT FAST"

- ▶ Ready Force X units will conduct critical training and validation pre-mob to reduce deployment timelines.
- ▶ Ready Force X units must be ready to step out the door to meet and engage adversaries anywhere in the world.

DOUBLE EAGLE SIX SENDS

"When I talk about having to Fight Fast, when I talk about capability and combat-readiness, I'm talking about lethality for America's Army Reserve."

-LTG Charles D. Luckey, Chief of Army Reserve and Commanding General, U.S. Army Reserve Command

What does Ready Force X mean for you and your unit?

- ▶ America's Army Reserve Ready Force X units will benefit from enhanced manning, equipping, and training initiatives including focused retention bonuses, equipment upgrades, and challenging individual and crew training.
- ▶ America's Army Reserve is focusing tough tactical, operational, and joint exercises to generate higher readiness in Ready Force X formations.
- ▶ America's Army Reserve Ready Force X units will be validated through no-notice Emergency Deployment Readiness Exercises (EDRE) that will test the units' ability to assemble, load equipment, and move quickly to a mobilization station.
- ▶ America's Army Reserve will build Ready Force X on a foundation of individual readiness and Warrior Ethos.

To find out more, visit
www.usar.army.mil/ReadyForceX

Are you ready?

What is Ready Force X?

- ▶ Full spectrum readiness approach for the Total Force.
- ▶ Focused on reducing pre/post mobilization timelines.
- ▶ Preparation to quickly mobilize and deploy forces against a near-peer adversary.

Why Ready Force X?

- ▶ The Total Force must be prepared to mobilize and deploy to fight a war with a near-peer adversary.
- ▶ America's Army Reserve includes a significant portion of the Army's logistics and theater opening capabilities.
- ▶ Increased readiness reduces deployment and post-mobilization training timelines in order to meet contingency requirements.
- ▶ Speed, agility, and sustained readiness are required in order to be in the fight within days or weeks, not months or years.

RFX builds and sustains readiness. RFX is about culture. It is about leadership, energy, and execution. It is about commanders, at each echelon, owning the responsibility for readiness.

- ▶ More than 600 units make up Ready Force X.

RFX UNIQUE UNITS

~55 units | 75% or more of the Army's total capability resides in America's Army Reserve

RFX STRESSED UNITS

~252 units | 40% or more of total Army Reserve capability in RFX

- ▶ Over 50,000 Soldiers are in RFX units.

RFX STRESSED AND UNIQUE UNITS

~187 units | Increased readiness to the Total Force

RFX FIRST 30 DAYS OF CONFLICT

~181 units | ~148 are unique, stressed, or both

CAPABLE • COMBAT READY • LETHAL